Bringing European Style to Santa Barbara

For Birgit Klein, European style is deeply rooted. Born in Germany, Bee studied interior design in London, where she opened her first studio in 2006. After launching a studio in Los Angeles in 2009, Bee opened a second office in 2015 in Montecito where her family calls home, having fallen in love with its small town feel and international sensibilities. With clients all over the world, Bee always infuses her European background into her work. Now, that cultivated, global, timeless style can be seen first-hand at Bee's very first showroom, located right in our own backyard.

Set in the heart of San Ysidro Village, the showroom and design studio is a one-stop shop for design. Clients can browse and shop European textiles, lighting, and accessories that haven't yet been offered in Santa Barbara.

Warm, inviting, and layered with ideas, the showroom is a place to shop worldly, one-off pieces, upholstery, and case goods plus Bee's own collection (which is made in L.A.). It's also a destination where clients can come dream up any piece of furniture they can imagine. Anything is possible and the team shows how to pull it all together, offering full-interior design services in a unique shopping experience.

Together with her team here in Montecito and in LA, Bee creates timeless and livable interiors from California to The Hamptons and from London to the South of France. Services range from interior design, interior architecture to furniture design. For Bee, it's all about offering Santa Barbara the very best of both worlds—access to modern, European style while keeping it local.
